

...a novelty drink to me because of it's reputation of having 9% of Alcohol.

Patrick - A desert beer. It's flavorfull and smooth along with a good kick.

Belgium Blonde

Jim - I can't nail down the flavors in it, but it's a distinct Belgium beer. It's not my favorite seasonal, but the next however.....

Dave - unlike the Monumental Blonde, this Blonde is full of flavor and perfect beer to go with pretty much anything

Patrick - More flavorfull than the monumental but almost too bitter of an after taste to be considered a Blonde

Dopplebock

Jim - It's yummy. Can you say Growler to go??? YES PLEASE!

Dave - Full of flavor, lots of goodness, I like this beer

Patrick - extremely flavorfull and full bodied. By far their best.

During our meal we ordered the famous Pretzels and cheese sauce as well as a plate of Lobster Mac n Cheese. Bastone Brewery over the past few years has prided itself on delivering a great menu of food and beer and they really do a great job at pleasing our group. The food was a perfect fit for the drinks, but of course since this is a beer taste testing by the Brewskies, the 3 of us have to give our thoughts on the best drink of our choice. At the end of our taste test, by unanimous decision we all decided to order a pint of the Dopplebock. The full flavor and great after taste truly separated this brew from the rest. As it is a seasonal, there is a limited time to how long you'll be able to try this for yourself, so head down to Bastone Brewery in Royal Oak at 419 South Main Street.

Visit The Brewskies on Facebook and Merry Christmas everyone!

- Dave Vanz of The BrewskiesRead more Bar Brady posts on MCB here

Posted by DIETROIT at 23.12.09

LINKS TO THIS POST

Create a Link