Couni Young

Go Go Wardrobe Pro

Hollywood wardrobe designer Couni Young, from Commerce Twp, shared some very exciting fashion tips with me as well as her secrets to dressing the stars, right here in metro Detroit. Couni has only been a wardrobe designer for two years but boy does she have a talent for picking and choosing the best items for her Hollywood starlets.

With more of a personal Bohemian/eclectic style for herself, Couni has no problem picking out a pair of great shoes at Neiman Marcus and wearing them with a one of kind vintage coat from her favorite thrift store. When asked where her favorite places to shop were here in metro Detroit, she was quick to share her secrets!

When in search for great Chanel pieces for her "high powered" clientele such as Faye Dunaway, she works closely with Patty Larson from Neiman Marcus. When she's in need of a great tailored men's suit, Doug Holfman of L'Uomo Vogue in Bloomfield Hills, (whom she claims is the "suit guru") can pick out the right suit, the right fit with the perfect cut right on the spot.

More of her local favorites are Incognito and Lost & Found, both in Royal Oak. When she needs a great pair of "kicks", Burn Rubber, also of Royal Oak, has many one of a kinds for her to choose from, especially when their exotic and colorful and she can easily pair them with a great men's suit.

When asked if she could give our readers her best fashion advice and recommend three main pieces that she thinks should be in EVERY woman's wardrobe, she responded with, "Every woman should have a black blazer, black slacks and a very nice pair of black shoes." All three pieces can be mixed and matched and will never go out of style. Her advice is to never throw anything away, and to be careful getting too trendy with your purchases. Classic pieces, that fit great, are ones that will stay in a woman's wardrobe for a very long time.
