

Ann Arbor Restaurant Week to start Sunday

BY SYLVIA RECTOR

FREE PRESS RESTAURANT CRITIC

Comments (0) Recommend (6) Print E-mail Letter to the editor Share

More than two dozen of Ann Arbor's best and most popular restaurants will participate in Ann Arbor Restaurant Week, which will start Sunday and end Jan. 22. Reservations are strongly recommended and fill quickly.

ADVERTISEMENT

Lifestyle Articles by: ARAlifestyle.com

Forget tanning beds: this self-tanner is better

Do you qualify for a credit card bailout?

Cruise specials for those 55 or older

Participants range in style from the casual Grizzly Peak to the upscale Chop House and include a wide range of ethnic spots.

The special promotion is designed to increase business by offering more affordable prices at top venues. The lunch deals are $12 across the board, but each restaurant can offer one, two or three courses, and some will have two-for-one deals.

At dinner, all participants will offer three courses for $25; some restaurants offer diners more than one choice per course. A few restaurants will offer two-for-one pricing. Menus and details are at www.annarborrestaurantweek.com.