

Traverse City Restaurants: Bowers Harbor Inn

Bowers Harbor Inn welcomes New York City chef.

Apr 17, 2009 Emily Betz Tyra

Housed in an 1880's lumber baron's retreat on orchard- and-vineyard-sprawled Old Mission Peninsula, Traverse City's Bowers Harbor Inn is destination dining at its best. Owners Jon Carlson and Greg Lobdell purchased the waterside property in 2006 to preserve the significant historic site as an award-winning restaurant. They recently lured Chef Paul Olson home to Michigan after 18 years on the East Coast.

After graduating from the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, New York, Olson honed his skills in French restaurants such as La Cite and Café Luxembourg
